What is being proposed?

In the future, we need a range of leisure and aquatic centres that are convenient to access and meet the varied needs of local residents.

It is also important to consider the proximity of other such facilities located in other areas, close to the boundaries of Canterbury-Bankstown. Having taken those matters into account, we propose to operate five facilities.

Plans have been identified for each facility and include priority measures to be delivered in the short-term, and details about how development can be staged to minimise disruption to services.

What will our facilities need to be?

Support health and wellbeing

Value for money

Multi-purposed

Support population growth

Supported by partnerships with other agencies

Supports the needs of the community

Connected to other facilities and transport

Accessible and inclusive

Environmentally sustainable

Why do we need a strategic plan?

Like most areas in Sydney, our leisure and aquatic centres were built in the 1960s and are nearing the end of their life cycle. Residents are also now looking for such centres to have a range of activities to choose from.

How did we develop this plan?

We consulted widely with the local community to develop a strategic plan that will help guide the upgrading of existing facilities and services and the establishment of new centres, over the next 10 years, to meet the growing needs of the local community.

Key recommendations:

- Creating modern and adaptable facilities that are adaptable, accessible and have multiple uses.
- 2. Consistent maintenance and management practices to ensure the costs of running and maintaining our facilities are efficiently managed over the long-term.
- 3. Access to outdoor water play provide more opportunities for broader sections of the community to access and enjoy water spaces.
- 4. Expanded programs and services to meet the health and well-being needs of the local community, including partnerships with allied health and educational institutions, while also improving commercial performance and return on investment.
